

Workshop on Global Stock Market History in the Twentieth Century

Tuesday 25 July 2006
the Faculty of Economics, University of Tokyo, Hongo-dori

Programme

Morning Session 9.30 – 12.00.

Welcome: Professor Masanao Itoh (Tokyo)

Overviews:

Gary Herrigel (Chicago): “Corporate Governance: History Without Historians

Ranald Michie (Durham): “The Global Securities Market in the 20th Century: Trends, Events, Governments and Institutions”

(GH’s paper is from the forthcoming Geoffrey Jones and Jonathan Zeitlin, eds. Oxford Handbook of Business History; he is also writing an introduction to a forthcoming symposium in Enterprise and Society. RM’s is a chapter from his forthcoming book on global stock exchanges)

Econometric Financial History:

Lyndon Moore (Northwestern/Wellington): “The Effect of World War One on Stock Market Integration”

Carsten Burhop (Munster): “Initial Public Offerings in the German Empire 1871-1913.”
(Comment: Herrigel)

12.00-1.00. Lunch in Conference room no.1 on the 12th floor of Faculty Building

Afternoon Session 1.00-4.40.

Stock Exchanges and their Corporations:

Peter Wardley (West of England): “The Global Assessment of the Large Enterprise on the Eve of the First World War: Corporate size and performance in 1912.”

(Comment: Hannah)

Leonid Borodkin (Moscow Lomonosov State): “Dynamics of the St Petersburg Stock Index 1897-1914: the effects of war and revolution” (co-author Gregory Perelman (San Francisco): will not be present).

Hans Willems (Antwerp): “From World Player to unremarkable member of Euronext: the development of the “ Bourse de Bruxelles” during the 20th Century.”

Was Investment Quality certifiable?

Patrick Fridenson (EHESS, Paris): “Crédit Lyonnais and Stock Certification.”

Leslie Hannah (Tokyo): “London versus New York: What did Morgan’s men really do?”