

Workshop on “Institutions, Preferences and Economic Development”

SNU 2015 Project “Building a Foundation for National Unification”

The University of Tokyo, December 14 (Monday)

9:00-9:10	Registration
9:10-9:15	Byung-Yeon Kim (Seoul National University) Opening Remarks
9:15-10:00	Robert Veszteg (Waseda University) Peer Punishment Does Not Eliminate Free Riding in Social Dilemmas in Japan
10:10-10:55	Jiahua Che (Fudan University) A Three Person Game of Institutional Resilience versus Transition
11:05-11:50	Syngjoo Choi (Seoul National University) Institutions, Competition Aversion, and Underconfidence: Experimental Evidence from North Korean Refugees
12:00-13:30	Lunch
13:30-14:15	Tatsuyoshi Saijo (Hitotsubashi University) Future Design
14:25-15:10	Harounan Kazianga (Oklahoma State University) Cash Transfers and Child Schooling: Evidence from a Randomized Evaluation of the Role of Conditionality
15:20-15:50	Yasuyuki Sawada (The University of Tokyo) How Does a Natural Disaster Change People’s Preference? Evidence from the Convex Time Budget Experiments in Japan and the Philippines
15:50-16:05	Tomohiro Hara (The University of Tokyo) Information from Media and Pro-Social Behavior toward Minority: Evidence from Laboratory Experiment with Korean in Japan
16:15-17:00	Daniel Aldrich (Northeastern University) Social Capital’s Role in Reducing Mortality and Speeding Recovery